III QUOTATIONS

His Honour said:

In this respect it should be emphasised that the directors of a company in discharging their duty to the company must take account of the interest of its shareholders and its creditors. Any failure by the directors to take into account the interests of creditors will have adverse consequences for the company as well as for them.¹²⁶

This next line tests a quotation³³ within a footnote.

Although one English commentator has recently suggested that ‘[t]he doctrine of proprietary estoppel is traditionally understood to give rise to a reliance based remedy, rather than an expectation based one’,⁸⁴ the minimum equity concept has not been interpreted in that way in the English courts.

IV UNIT TESTS

A Cases

Full: New South Wales v Amery [2006] HCA 14 (Amery), 23¹

Full: Hickie v Hunt and Hunt (1998) EOC 92-910 (Hickie)²

Short: Amery [2006] HCA 14, 25³

1 Running case citation

Some of the `\case` command tests are currently failing: `\case` command not ready for production!

This is a test to see if punctuation can be included in a case such as State of Victoria v Schou,⁴ (Schou) which has a comma, Hickie Which had a full stop, or simply Schou in the middle of a sentence. The user can “define their own intervening punctuation for Schou

V IBID, ABOVE AND CROSS-REFERENCING

This is a series of tests²⁴ for the use of ibid.²⁵ Here is another for good measure.²⁶ This is a series of tests²⁷ for books, repeated entries are marked with ‘ibid’.²⁸ Here is a different entry to allow the next feature to be tested.²⁹ This is a test for the ‘above’ feature³⁰ which also uses ‘ibid’.³¹ Here is another ‘above’ for good measure, with a page reference..³²

The next test is for a footnote with the same citation twice.³³ The second citation should not be repeated, but if there is a pinpoint, simply using ‘at’.

A Blah

1 Blah
